

RUSS ARE OFFERING STUBBORN RESISTANCE

GERMAN OFFENSIVE DEVELOPING SLOWER THAN ANTICIPATED

British Eyewitness Attributes Success of Past Few Days to English Artillery—Heavy Fog Interferes With Operations in the Dardanelles

London, Mar. 13.—(11:05 p. m.)—The British successes of the last few days were due to their artillery, which apparently is superior to that of the Germans, according to the story of the British eye-witness issued tonight.

The British guns, including heavy howitzers, opened the way for an advance by the British Indian troops, which carried them to and beyond the village of Neve Chappelle, while airmen, by dropping bombs on the railways, prevented the Germans from bringing up reinforcements. The fire of the artillery is described as the fiercest that has yet been heard in the war and confirms what had only heretofore been rumors.

Greatly Heartens British Troops. The German trenches on which the artillery fire was directed, were wrecked, so that except in one or two places, which had virtually been converted into fortresses the infantry were able to advance without much difficulty. This success has greatly heartened the British troops who have spent the winter in the trenches and gives them hope that when the great general movement is decided upon they will be able to carry all before them.

The Germans, according to reports, are already sending large numbers of troops to Flanders, in the belief that a general offensive on the part of the allies has begun. The impression here, however, is that the British thrust was only part of the allied strategy which aims at keeping the Germans busy on both fronts, thus preventing them from concentrating at any one point. Concurrently the French continue their offensive in Champagne and the Vosges and are strengthening the ground which they have won in recent battles.

Frozen Ground Prevents Entrenching. In the east the German offensive against Przysnyz is not developing as fast as anticipated. The Russians are offering stubborn resistance to their advance along parallel roads, and, owing to the inability of the Germans to entrench in the frozen ground, have according to the Petrograd reports, thus far had the advantage in the preliminary fighting. In fact the Germans are said to have withdrawn their front to the north of Przysnyz.

Heavy fighting is in progress in the Carpathians despite snow storms and deep drifts.

Heavy fog has interfered with the operations of the allied fleets against the Dardanelles, but the ships have kept up the bombardment of the forts at Bulair, through which reinforcements, provisions and ammunition for the fortifications in the straits must pass. They are also preventing the Turks from strengthening the forts at the entrance of the straits and before Smyrna, which had previously been destroyed or damaged.

Eighty-Eight Ships Sunk. The British admiralty issued a report tonight showing that of 88 British vessels sunk or captured by hostile action from the commencement of the war until March 10th, 22 were victims to submarines.

Since March 10th, seven British steamers have been torpedoed but of these, three were not sunk. The number of ships lost is considered small in view of the number of ships proceeding to and from British ports.

There have been no political developments respecting the near east except the declaration of the Greek minister at Paris that the change of government at Athens does not indicate any modification of Greece's foreign policy, which he said was inspired by the traditional sentiments of his country for the Triple Entente.

MANCHESTER MAN BADLY MANGLED IN ACCIDENT WITH BUZZ-SAW

Suffers Severe Injuries while at work on the Farm of William Ring near Winchester—In Serious Condition Last Night.

Fred Lawson of Manchester, while sawing wood on the farm of William Ring, seven miles east of Winchester was caught in the saw Saturday forenoon and so severely mangled that his life late last night was hanging in the balance. The accident happened about 10 o'clock, as Mr. Lawson was in the act of shutting off the friction clutch. Slipping, he fell against the flying saw. His left arm was so badly mangled that Dr. George Bengel and William O'Reilly, who were called immediately, were compelled to take off the member near the shoulder. His left side was crushed and one of the ribs was forced into the lungs. He received lesser injuries about the head and face.

Mr. Lawson resides on a farm three and one half miles north of Manchester and is a man of family. Seventeen years ago he suffered an accident while rail-splitting in which his skull was caved in with an ax. He survived this in a manner almost miraculous and has since enjoyed full strength and health.

REMANDS CASH REGISTER CASE TO LOWER COURT FOR NEW TRIAL

U. S. Court of Appeals Holds Evidence on One Count Was Insufficient and Neither of the Other Two Counts Should Have Been Considered by the Trial Court.

Cincinnati, O., Mar. 13.—Holding that the evidence on one count was insufficient and that neither of the other two counts should have been considered by the district court which tried the case, the United States court of appeals today overruled the decision of the lower court which convicted John H. Patterson and twenty-six other officials or former officials of the National Cash Register company of Dayton, Ohio, of being guilty of violating the criminal section of the Sherman anti-trust act and remanded the case back to the lower court for a new trial.

The first count charged conspiracy to monopolize the cash register trade of this country, while the other two counts charged the monopoly of the trade. The upper court held that while the first count was in proper form to present to the jury, yet evidence had been introduced concerning National Cash Register competitors which had not been in existence during the three year limit of law previous to the finding of the indictment. This evidence the court said should not have been allowed.

May Take Case to Highest Court. Washington, Mar. 13.—Officials of the department of justice declined to comment today on the decision in the National Cash Register case in the absence of the entire opinion. Attorney General Gregory will decide what line of action to follow later and it is possible he will ask the supreme court for a writ of certiorari, which would bring the case up to the highest court.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION BILL MAY COME TO VOTE WEDNESDAY

Way is Cleared for Consideration of Measure in Committee of the Whole Tuesday—Friends Say Bill Will Pass.

Springfield, Ill., March 13.—The way has been cleared for full consideration of the constitutional convention resolution in committee of the whole on Tuesday and it is probable the bill will come to a vote on Wednesday morning as the first order of business. Friends of the measure say it will pass.

With the constitutional convention resolution disposed of Speaker Shanahan plans to get as rapid action as possible on the two hundred bills before the house.

The physical details of committee rooms, the appointment of committee clerks, reporters and other helpers will be disposed of by the committee on contingent expenses on Monday and the way will be cleared for five days a week sessions for the house. The senate may be delayed by a re-opening of the Democratic filibuster against the proposed tripartite committee slate for committee and senate organization.

If a coalition can be perfected to the extent of naming the committee real business will open in the senate on Thursday morning.

DEMANDS ON SALAZAR REPEATED TO VILLA

CAROTHERS IS INSTRUCTED TO LAY MATTER BEFORE NORTHERN LEADER

Zapata Commander Has Already Promised to Punish Those Guilty of Killing McManus—Mexico City Is Reported Quiet.

Washington, Mar. 13.—Demands by the United States government upon General Salazar, the Zapata commander in Mexico City, for the punishment of soldiers who murdered John B. McManus, an American citizen, and the payment of adequate compensation to McManus' family were repeated today to General Villa. "As Villa and Zapata," Secretary Bryan said, "have been operating I thought it was a good idea to make representations to Villa as well so that the offenders would be punished."

Sends Message to Carothers. The secretary telegraphed to George C. Carothers, American consular agent accompanying Villa, the substance of the message which had previously been sent to Mexico City with instructions to lay the matter before General Villa and urge prompt attention. As finances of the Villa-Zapata government have been practically in control of General Villa the question of an indemnity to the family of McManus, it is believed, will be settled by the northern chief. General Salazar has already promised to punish those guilty of killing McManus.

Mexico City was reported quiet late today with no change in the situation there.

FREEPORT DEFEATS SPRINGFIELD IN STATE CHAMPIONSHIP FINALS

DECATUR, Ill., Mar. 13.—Freeport's superior basket shooting and guarding won the state high school basketball championship tonight over Springfield, 27 to 11. Springfield played a rough game, the result being that twelve of Freeport's points were made on free throws. The all-star team selected by the officials includes four Freeport men—Hill, Koehler, forwards; Langenstein, center, and Fox, guard, and one Springfield guard, Sternmann.

The final standing of the first four teams was: Freeport, first; Springfield, second; Shelbyville, third; Carbondale, fourth. Shelbyville won from Carbondale tonight by 33 to 8.

SPECIAL FACILITIES FOR MEAT HAULING COST ROADS HEAVILY

F. A. Leland Says Outlay Amounts to $1,000,000 Annually, Although It Does Not Yield the Roads Anything.

Chicago, Mar. 13.—It costs the western railroads $1,000,000 a year to provide special facilities to the meat packers for the transportation of meats, although this outlay does not yield the railroads anything, according to F. A. Leland of St. Louis, chairman of the southwestern tariff committee, who testified today at the interstate commerce commission's hearing of the western railroad's petition for higher rates on certain commodities.

The witness asserted that if the railroads hauled commodities other than meat they would save $1,000,000 a year which now goes to providing ice, quick service and hauling extra heavy cars. He said the packers had a traffic organization and shifted their business to the railroad which gave them the service they asked for. It was for this reason, he said, that the transportation of meats and packing house products did not bear its share of the maintenance of railroads and it was upon this contention that the railroads had asked for an increase of approximately three and one-half cents a hundred pounds for the hauling of meats in certain territory east of the Rocky Mountains. It would require a general increase of three and one-half cents on this commodity to equalize it without rates, Mr. Leland asserted.

STATES PRINZ ETEL WILL NOT LEAVE PORT UNTIL END OF WAR

Newport News, Va., March 13.—"I can say positively that the Prinz Eitel Friedrich will not leave this port until the end of the European war."

This assertion was made tonight by Captain P. H. Kiehne, master of the American sailing ship William P. Frye, which the German raider destroyed in the South Atlantic ocean on January 28th. Captain Kiehne had just bade fare well to Commander Thierichens of the German cruiser. He had paid off his crew and was leaving for Washington to reveal the details of his ship's destruction directly to heads of the government.

War News Summarized

German submarines have been particularly active of late in British waters with the result that seven British steamers have been torpedoed since March 10, two of them at least, have gone to the bottom—the Collier Inverclyde and the Indian City, the latter a new steamer of nearly 3,000 tons, laden with cotton from Galveston.

Two others, the Florazan and the Andalusian, may have been sunk but this has not been confirmed, although their crews are reported to have been rescued. The other three are believed to have been towed to port.

All the official reports respecting the land operations indicate that comparative quiet prevails along the various battle fronts.

The British have succeeded in holding the ground they recently gained in the region of Neuve Chappelle, where on the remainder of the front in the western zone there has been little beyond artillery firing.

A British eye-witness, in telling of the operations around Neuve Chappelle, describes the bombardment by the artillery of the allies as the most terrific of the whole war. He estimates a gain of 1,200 yards along a 4,000 yard front on the first day of these operations and the number of prisoners captured as more than 750.

The Luxembourg diet has empowered the government to expropriate grain and provisions and the use of grain by distillers has been prohibited.

The Swedish steamer Hanna has been torpedoed off Scarborough, six of her crew being lost.

THAW FACES RENEWAL OF EFFORTS TO RETURN HIM TO MATTEAWAN

Is Acquitted of Conspiracy Charge—Hearing on Motion to Re-commit Him to Asylum set for Monday.

New York, March 13.—Harry K. Thaw, acquitted today of conspiracy in escaping from Matteawan, faced tonight a renewal of determined efforts of New York state to send him back to the asylum. In his cell in the Tombs, the one he occupied after the killing of Stanford White nearly nine years ago, he was all enthusiasm. His keepers said he was whistling like a boy and seemed to be the happiest man in the city.

Almost endless litigation seed to him in sight as the result of the verdict. The words of acquittal had scarcely died from Foreman Bailey's lips when Deputy Attorney General Cook was on his feet with a motion to have Thaw re-committed to Matteawan.

This was opposed by John B. Stanchfield, chief of Thaw's counsel, on the ground that the court already had under advisement a motion to return Thaw to New Hampshire, whence he came to answer the conspiracy charge. The motion was renewed and Supreme Court Justice Page set Monday at 2 p. m., for argument thereon.

EXPECTS SETTLEMENT WITHOUT DIFFICULTY

BELIEVE GERMANY WILL MAKE REPARATION FOR LOSS OF SHIP

Will Probably Repudiate Action of Captain Thierichens—Count Bernstorff Tells Counselor Lansing of Commander's Report to Captain Boyed.

Washington, March 13.—Germany probably will repudiate action of captain of the Prinz Eitel Friedrich in sinking the American ship William P. Frye and make reparation for the loss of the vessel and cargo in the opinion of German officials here inasmuch as the United States and Germany are in accord on the question of shipping foodstuffs from a neutral country to civilians in belligerent country no issues is expected to be raised by Germany over the right of the cargo to be sent to its destination without interruption.

Confers with Counselor Lansing

Count Bernstorff, the German ambassador, after a visit to the state department today, indicated that he believed the case would be settled without much difficulty. He told Counselor Lansing what captain of the Prinz Eitel had told Captain Boyed, the naval attaché of the German embassy, as to the sinking of the American ship, but the ambassador reserved his own opinion on the action of the commander, saying he had no instructions from his government.

Captain Thierichens of the Prinz Eitel informed Captain Boyed that his only guide while at sea and for many months out of communication with his government was the declaration of London. This would permit the destruction of a neutral prize if carrying a cargo more than half of which could be proven to be contraband, provided it was impossible to take the vessel to a home port without endangering the captor warship.

MESSAGE BEARER OF GEN. LEE DIES AT HOME NEAR PRENTICE

William H. Taylor, Soldier of the Confederacy, Answers Final Summons—Funeral Will be This Afternoon.

William H. Taylor, a soldier of the Confederacy and a message bearer for General Robert E. Lee at the great battle of Gettysburg, died Friday morning at 9:05 o'clock at his home in Prentice, at the age of 82 years, 6 months and 20 days.

He was born in the state of Virginia and at the breaking out of the Civil war joined the southern army. Not only was he a soldier, but he served for a long time as a message bearer for General Lee. His true patriotism was shown, however, at the close of the war as he was the first to take allegiance to the Federal government. Always upon occasion at Prentice when the Union soldiers observed Memorial day Mr. Taylor would participate in the exercises, carrying the union flag and strewing the flowers on the graves of the departed soldiers.

At the close of the war he came to Illinois and settled in this county and had followed the occupation of a farmer. His wife died in 1875. He leaves two children, Mrs. C. M. Decker of East Court street, this city, and George Taylor of Prentice. For a number of years he had preferred to live alone and did so up till a few days ago.

Twelve years ago he united with the Berea church and had been one of its substantial members. He was a good citizen and a man whom everyone honored and respected. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Prentice. Rev. C. E. French of Virginia officiating. Interment will be made in the Yatesville cemetery.

CATHOLICS TO PRAY FOR PEACE AMONG THE NATIONS

Pope Benedict XV Sets Aside Sunday, March 21, for Petitions Written by Himself to Be Said in the Churches.

Pope Benedict XV has sent out a decree from Rome throughout the Catholic world, setting aside Passion Sunday, March 21, as a day of prayer for peace among all nations. The decree asks all officers of the church to observe the day with special services, that there might be universal intercession for peace.

The prayer composed by Pope Benedict for the day is: "Agghast at the horrors of war, which throw peoples and nations into confusion, we take refuge, O Jesus, as supreme help, in your most loving heart. From Thee, God of mercy, we implore with sighs the cessation of this terrible scourge. To Thee, King of Peace, we hasten with prayers for the peace we yearn for."

"From Thy divine heart, Thou caustest charity to radiate over the world, so that, every kind of discord being removed, only love should reign among them. While Thou wast on this earth Thou didst feel the most tender compassion for human misfortunes. Oh let then Thy heart be moved in this hour, grave for us by reason of such deadly hatreds, by such terrible slaughter."

"Take pity on many mothers in anguish for the fate of their sons; pity on so many families deprived of their heads; pity upon Europe in misery, on which so much ruin is falling."

"Inspire rulers and peoples with desires for peace, compose the passions that are tearing nations asunder, grant that men may give each other the kiss of peace. Thou, who at the price of Thy blood, didst make them brothers. And as one day at the suppliant cry of the Apostles: Peter! Save us, O Lord, we perish. Thou didst respond pitifully by making the sea tranquil, so today to our confident prayers answer favorably by restoring to a distracted world tranquility and peace."

"And Thou, also, O Most Holy Virgin, as Thou didst help us in other times of terrible trials, aid us, protect us, save us. Amen."

The Woman's Home Missionary society of Centenary M. E. church will meet Friday afternoon, March 19, at the home of Mrs. T. H. Rapp, South East street.

DOUGHERTY IS FREED AFTER REACHING JOLIET

SPENDS TIME WAITING FOR WARDEN TO GET DUNNE ON TELEPHONE

Race's Out of Penitentiary to Catch Car for Chicago When Word of Pardon is Received—Is at Prison Just Sixty-five Minutes.

Joliet, Ill., March 13.—Newton C. Dougherty, former Peoria educator, convicted of embezzlement of school funds, reached the penitentiary here at 9 o'clock tonight and at five minutes past ten o'clock a long distance message from Governor Dunne made him a free man.

Spends Time in Warden's Office. Dougherty spent his sixty-five minutes in the prison in the office of Warden Edmund Allen who was trying to get the governor on the telephone. When the governor informed the warden that the pardon had been signed, Dougherty shook hands with Sheriff Butts, who had brought him from Peoria, and raced out of the penitentiary to catch an electric car for Chicago which passed the prison at 10:20 p. m. Sheriff Butts and one of his deputies arrived from Peoria with his prisoner at 8:40 o'clock and reached the prison at nine.

Dougherty served six years in the penitentiary here for forgery. He was sentenced in 1905 to a term of from 1 to 14 years. Nov. 11th, 1911 he was paroled and June 6th, 1912 he was pardoned. Upwards of 100 indictments were found against Dougherty. His sentence followed a plea of guilty to one of the counts.

Filed Suits to Recover.

Following his release Dougherty filed several civil suits to recover real-estate in various parts of the country. Before pleading guilty he had conveyed this real estate to a trustee to make good the various defalcations. In his suits to recover the property he alleged the property was deeded to the school board before the amount of his defalcation had been ascertained.

On his filing these civil suits he was again indicted on a similar charge and on trial was convicted. Application for a pardon was made early this year and was based on the claim that Dougherty had paid the penalty for his guilt.

THE CHRISTIAN IN POLITICS.

(While people may differ with Secretary of State W. J. Bryan in affairs political and in general policies, the secretary is generally admired for the high type of christian citizenship which he represents. An eminent pastor said not long ago to Mr. Bryan that he had done much for the church and the secretary replied, "The church has done much for me.")

In the New York Christian Advocate of recent date, Mr. Bryan contributes an article on "The Christian in Politics," wherein he emphasizes the need for righteousness in secular life and also makes a special plea for viewing with charity and consideration those who differ from us.

Mr. Bryan summed up his argument by saying:

"The test of the Christian is whether he puts God first or himself first, for Christianity requires a surrender of oneself to the Creator. Christ makes known to man, by word and by example, how the individual may, by this surrender, make himself an instrument in the hands of the heavenly Father for working out the divine plan. Every false god that men worship is, in reality, but an expression of human selfishness; for that which is put before God is something that the individual yielding to self, prefers to God.

"No matter to what work man addresses himself, the test of his religion is the same. The minister may devote a larger percentage of his time than the layman to religious work, but so far as his conduct is concerned there is no moral precept binding upon the man in the pulpit that is not equally binding upon the man in the pew. While the layman cannot devote as many hours as the minister to talking Christianity and to visiting those who need counsel and comfort, what he does say must be consistent with his profession and what he does must not give the lie to what the minister does. If the minister, more nearly than the layman, makes the week day like Sunday, the layman is not, for this reason, justified in doing anything on the week day that is inconsistent with his worship on Sunday.

"Man's relation to government is one of the three important relations of life; the most important being his relation to God, and the one second in importance being his relation to society.

"The Christian in politics must decide according to the light that he has what his duty is, and he must have the courage to perform it whether his conduct meets with approval or criticism. It is enough if he acts conscientiously and not from selfish motives, and I may add, if the Christian claims for himself the right to follow his judgment and his conscience, not only in deciding what he shall support, but when and to what extent he shall support it, he must concede the right to others. Charity toward others is an evidence of honesty and courage. If one knows that he himself is honest he will find it easy to believe that those who differ from him may likewise be honest, and if he knows that courage is necessary in the defense of what he believes, he can appreciate the courage exhibited by those who differ from him.

"The Christian in politics, therefore, may be described as one who, living Christianity all the time and taking part in his government as a civic duty, endeavors, to the best of his ability to promote the public welfare by the intelligent and disinterested application of his knowledge and experience to the opportunities that present themselves."

SCHOOL BOARD CANDIDATES

While there has been a great deal of interest in the coming city election when members of the city council will be chosen for the next four years, very little is being said about the fact that two members of the board of education will be chosen at that time. Mr. Imgrund of the first ward, and Dr. Clampt of the second ward, are filling out unexpired terms by appointment, and their successors will be chosen at the election, April 20th.

It is true that the people of Jacksonville do not pay quite enough attention to board of education matters and candidates. The people as a whole realize in a general way the very important relation that the board has to the present and future welfare of the city, having in charge as they do, the control of the public school system. Aside from the importance of education itself, more money passes through the hands of the board of education each year than through the city council. The active duties of board members are not so large as those of a mayor and commissioner, but they are fully as important, and in some respects more important.

It is to be hoped that at the coming election two members may be chosen who are thoroughly interested in school affairs and who have but one object in view, to constantly make better the school facilities of Jacksonville. School costs should be held within reasonable limits, and yet at the same time, the majority of the people believe in advances being made; want the teachers well paid; all needed equipment provided, and in general, all expenses provided for which mean that the school system is keeping abreast of the best tendencies in educational work.

It is hoped, too, that the board of education during the coming year, and for that matter, during succeeding years, can work as a unit in securing the best things educationally for the schools. In past years it has often happened that three members have privately organized against the fourth member, or that two members with the presiding officer, have organized against the other two. Something of that situation has existed during the past year. Just what has been the cause the journal does not know or attempt to say, and the statement is not directed as a criticism against any member of the present board. In this matter of disagreement the board has had ample example in service of previous board members.

The statement above, that this paper does not know the basis or cause of differences, is significant. The fact is that the people do not know enough about school board matters, and probably much of the fault for this can be charged to the public themselves. If there were greater publicity to school board affairs, but this would be a better thing for the board and better for the public, and a more intimate relation would be established between the board and the public.

Another matter which boards for years have neglected is that of making public any sort of an accounting for the large sums of money which pass through their hands. There is a legal provision that the board shall make public a list of expenditures, but this has not been done for several years. The statement does not mean that any irregularities in expenditures are likely, but for any body which spends public funds is a statement of expenditures is a faithful thing and tends toward economy. The people of the first and second wards should speedily begin consideration of the question of whom they will elect members for the coming two years.

WOULD WIPE OUT CIVIL SERVICE LAW.

Senator Smith, of this district, recently introduced in the senate at Springfield, a bill which it is said would have the effect of wiping out the civil service bill which has been on the statute book for several years. This proposed legislation will, no doubt, bring about a very large amount of discussion in the general assembly.

The people as a rule have looked upon a civil service bill as being a piece of advance legislation, as it has been realized that the spoils system has often not been advantageous to the service of the state. Yet undoubtedly the civil service bill could stand a lot of amending, and because of it, superintendents of various institutions often find themselves embarrassed. At the local institutions it is said that a superintendent often has difficulty in securing ordinary labor because he must choose only from a selected list of applicants, and that the civil service examinations are such that men and women can often pass them who are not qualified for the duties of the position. It is so happens often, too, that there are men and women who are wholly fitted for certain duties and positions, who could not pass an examination at all if compelled to write answers to a certain list of questions and to describe on paper just how they would perform the duties of the positions they are desirous of filling.

PROPOSE PRIMARY LAW CHANGE.

A proposed amendment to the primary law provides that all nominees names shall appear upon one ballot instead of each party having a ballot of a different color as now. A provision of the proposed measure makes it unlawful for a voter to select candidates on more than one ticket.

The purpose is to make it unnecessary for a voter to declare many party affiliations as a good many people believe. The sovereign right of citizenship are interfered with by the requirement that in the primary he must publicly declare to which party he belongs.

If some one will propose an amendment to the law which will so limit the candidates that those elected represent the wishes of a majority of the people rather than a varying minority depending upon the number of candidates in the field, he will confer a lasting benefit upon society.

MORE PAY FOR ELECTION OFFICIALS IS PROPOSED

Each session of the general assembly some effort to amend the election law is made, and at this session one of the bills already introduced provides for an increase in the pay of election clerks and judges. In this county, which is of the second class, election judges and clerks are paid $3.00 a day for their services, and in a proposed bill which would affect cities of 25,000 or more, election officials will receive from $5.00 to $8.00 a day. With the new voting precincts in Jacksonville, there are 96 judges and clerks and the proposed bill becomes a law the expense of elections will be increased considerably. The present law provides $3.00 a day for such service, but does not state the length of day, and by construing that a day means eight to ten hours, allowance for two days' labor is made usually to those who serve at elections.

DEMOCRATIC HARMONY.

It is related that the unwritten history of the meeting of the Democratic central committee Saturday would be much more interesting than the printed record. So far as the public knows the committee met and went through only the peaceful performance of selecting delegates to the judicial convention which will be held in Springfield March 24.

But peaceful is by no means the right word in the right place for there was much strife and heated discussion wherein the differences which have worried contending factions in the party for some time, were revived and given a thorough airing. Campaign contributions and political appointments were only a few of the subjects considered.

STARTS ARMORY PLAN.

Secretary Weber of the Chamber of Commerce is starting a good movement in urging the legislature to establish an armory in Jacksonville. The erection of such a building would not be out of line with the state's policy pursued elsewhere and would certainly be a desirable addition to Jacksonville property. The local company has long felt the need of adequate armory facilities.

MISS BLACKBURN CAME FROM BULGARIA BY NEW ROUTE

Return Ordered Because Further War Complications in Europe are Feared—White Star Liner Flowed Through Sea Without Lights.

Miss Kate B. Blackburn, who has been for twenty-three years a missionary in Bulgaria, returned to Jacksonville Saturday night and is now at the home of her father, Edmund Blackburn, six miles northwest of Jacksonville. Miss Blackburn arrived in Boston on the White Star liner Canopic Thursday in company with Miss Davis of Kalamazoo, Mich., who has also been in missionary work in Bulgaria for a number of years.

They started on the return trip February 15 and so have been four weeks on the way. At intervals during recent months Miss Blackburn has been in receipt of letters from the missionary board of the church suggesting that it would probably be wise, on account of the European war conditions, to arrange for a speedy return to America. On the day before the missionaries started homeward they received a telegram from Bishop Nowell from Copenhagen urging them to start at once and letters arriving the same day from the missionary board urged this course.

Come by New Route.

Talking about her return last night, Miss Blackburn said: "This is the tenth return trip I have made from Bulgaria during the past twenty-three years. Usually I have come by a northern route, taking me through England, but this year the only possible way to come was via Dedeagatch, the new Bulgarian port on the south. We sailed from there on a French boat to the port of Athens and there transferred to an Italian boat which carried us to Brindisi. Then at Naples we were transferred to the White Star liner Canopic, on which we had previously secured passage. At this time only first class and second class were only first class and on board the Canopic. In the number were officials of the Standard Oil company returning from Roumania, and relatives of American ministers from a number of countries. The capacity of the Canopic, first class, is 250 and the fact that only thirty passengers were carried indicates that on board there were no returning tourists. Five hundred Italians were carried steerage, a greater part of them women who were coming here to join relatives. A short time previous to our start for America we could have traveled via Rotterdam, but the German order subsequently closed that route.

Complications Feared.

"In urging our return the officers of the Missionary Board did not consider that we were in any danger, but believed that complications are likely to speedily occur which would make it impossible for us to leave the country. I am Bulgarian and other countries have for months been as it were, wavering in the matter of neutrality and any day is likely to see them involved in the war. If, by chance, Italy should take some part it would have become impossible for us to leave. The question of our inability to leave was not the only one involved, for if that condition did come about it would mean practically that the college at Lovetch would be cut off from communication with the board and, in the matter of funds, we would be seriously embarrassed and practically unable to continue. The work in the public schools is being pushed along more rapidly than usual, with the expectation that the schools will close the latter part of this month. This action is to be taken particularly for the purpose of allowing the teachers to serve in the army.

Liner Came Without Lights.

"No special incident marked our return voyage, but the Canopic came all the way with lights out. The officers were especially on the alert because on a previous voyage the boat had been fired on by a German warship. The knowledge that we were sailing through the sea without lights did not alarm us particularly, although I confess that there came at times, a creepy feeling when we stopped to think about it. Usually the passengers and crew of a liner are glad whenever they sight some ship, but not so on this journey and whenever a vessel was sighted we did not breathe quite freely until its identity was thoroughly established."

The length of Miss Blackburn's stay is somewhat uncertain and may be prolonged on account of war conditions. She is subject, however, to the orders of the Missionary Board.

The Valley of the Moon

Jack London's Delightful Story Done in Six Parts.

Reviewed by W. Stephen Bush.

"The Valley of the Moon" is an achievement in story telling by the cleverest American story teller of the day. Howard Bosworth directed the play with his usual, masterly skill, and has achieved a success of even greater magnitude than before. Jack Conway plays "Billy Roberts," while Myrtle Stedman is given the role of Saxon. These two accomplished artists give performances of absolute charm and realism, winning the sympathy of the audience with their first scenes and holding it with undiminished interest to the end. The exact locations described in the book are used as settings, and their variety and beauty are brought out with great vividness by George W. Hills's skillful photography.

J. H. S. DEBATORS PREPARE FOR SPRINGFIELD-QUINCY CONTEST

Jacksonville Team Will Uphold Parcels Post Extension Against Quincy Next Friday Evening—Other High School Happenings.

The extension of the parcels post will be the subject of the Jacksonville-Quincy debate Friday evening in the high school auditorium and the interest already manifest makes it evident that the local debaters will receive strong support. A negative team from Jacksonville will go the same evening to Springfield. Last year Jacksonville won from Springfield in a hard fought contest on the local platform, the same night losing to Quincy. Jacksonville, Quincy and Springfield form one of the six tri-city associations included within the Knox Inter-scholastic Debating League. In each school the same question will be debated. "Resolved: That the parcels post should be extended to include the entire express service of the United States."

The team who remain at home are Miss Ila Ferreira, senior; Miss Ruth Fenstermaker, junior, and Otto Phelps of the sophomore class. Miss Helen Harney, John Martin and Earl Priest, of the same three classes respectively, compose the negative team who go to Springfield. Miss Gladys Ferreira is alternate. For several weeks the teams have been in training and the members have secured excellent grasp of the subject for discussion. Miss Mabel Cowdin has had the training in charge. Assisting her were Miss Jeanette Taylor and Miss Marie Scott, of the high school faculty also and Attorney Hugh Greene, who has had extensive debating experience while in college and law school.

At the first, fourth and sixth periods tomorrow Prin. Stone will give an illustrated talk on Italy to the classes in Latin and History. He has a number of excellent slides, depicting Italy both ancient and modern. Citizens of Jacksonville who desire to attend are extended a cordial welcome with the request that they be present by the beginning of the periods at 8:45, 11:15 or 2:00 o'clock.

With the new song books, singing by the school is undergoing a revival and the singing in times past would suffer noticeably by comparison. Harold Boyd has of late been assisting with the cornet. Report cards were issued Friday and the parents given opportunity to inspect the grades made by high school pupils during February. At the assembly of students Friday forenoon the chorus sang two very enjoyable selections and Miss Helen Calky, the assistant principal, gave an interesting talk in support of the Quincy debate Friday, March 19.

An interesting feature in the manual training work the past week was the lecture on forestry by Prin. C. A. R. Stone, illustrated with slides furnished by the government forestry service. The 50 government slides were supplemented by several from the private collection of Mr. Huber.

The next meeting of the Forum Literary society will be held Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Postponement was made from last Friday evening on account of the performance of Hamlet by the Illinois College Dramatic club.

BEAUTIFUL GROUNDS FOR SCHOOL, HOME AND PUBLIC PARK OR SQUARE

Herbert W. Blaney of the University of Illinois Tells Woman's Club How to Use Trees and Shrubs for Best Effect.

Beautifying the homestead and the use of trees, shrubs, vines and flowers for improvement of private grounds, school yard or public park, formed the theme of an illustrated lecture by Herbert W. Blaney, speaking to members of the Jacksonville Woman's club in session Saturday afternoon at Academy hall. Mr. Blaney is a Massachusetts man, now on the faculty of the state university at Urbana. He came under the auspices of the flower, garden and park committee of which Mrs. T. J. Pitner is chairman.

Mr. Blaney urged the necessity of beautiful school grounds, made attractive by judicious planting and furnished with adequate play ground equipment. Boards of education in this matter are often recalcitrant, pointed out Mr. Blaney, continuing with the statement that "then the town should take hold and make the school yard a place so attractive that it can be used in season and out, whether school is in session or not."

Home beautification is a necessary prelude to public improvements, said Mr. Blaney. Citizens with beautiful home grounds get behind the movement for improvement in parks. Attractive homes make for beauty throughout the town or city.

The women were called to order at 3 o'clock by the vice president, Mrs. Miller Weir. Some slight modifications in the constitution with regard to the paying of dues were made by the club by way of monthly business. Mr. Blaney's talk was preceded by three vocal selections by Miss Louise D. Miller, instructor in voice at Illinois Woman's college. Mr. Blaney made use of stereopticon slides in an illustrated address of considerable compass. After the lecture, members and guests partook of light refreshments, served by the social committee. There followed a few of Mr. Blaney's instructions with regard to the planting of trees:

"Avoid planting too closely and in straight lines. Some trees are never used except where a botanical collection is desired, as their ornamental value is small compared with the host of other trees obtainable. The Carolina poplar, box elder, and soft maple are too poor for ordinary use. Tea's weeping mulberry, Camperdown elm, weeping beech, Catalpa bungei, etc., are freaks and out of place on the lawn. Small trees as the red bud, flowering crabapple and plums, used in groups of two or three in connection with shrubs, are valuable for screening, for forming a transition between larger trees and shrubs, and for breaking the monotony in the shrub border.

The Use of Shrubs.

"Keep the lawn open. Do not scatter flower beds or shrubs promiscuously. Plant shrubs about the foundation of the house, the angles of the walks, and the borders of the lawn. Use the more refined growing plants about the house and the coarse ones at the borders where they are seen at a greater distance. Use high growing shrubs at the corners of the house and porch and for accent in the wider parts of the border beds. Plant high growing species back of low growing ones. Before buying or planting be sure you understand the ultimate height to which they will grow. This cannot always be judged from the size of the plants when they arrive from the nursery, for the tall growing may be smaller stock than the lower growing species. In planting close to walks and drive, use compact growing species to avoid obstructing traffic. Do not plant shrubs as specimens or individual plants, but use several plants in a bed to secure a massed effect. Do not plant shrubs in a straight line but place the plants irregularly so as to avoid a lined-up appearance. The side of the planting beds next the lawn should present a pleasantly curved outline."

THE DRUG PATIENTS.

Mention was made yesterday that the general treatment of those addicted to drugs now being cared for at Jacksonville State Hospital, follows the general plan outlined by Dr. W. K. McLaughlin in a recent article in a medical journal. Dr. Foley who has charge of these cases at the hospital, said Saturday that the statement made was incorrect. It would be difficult to clearly describe in a newspaper the treatment given here, but Dr. Foley's work has been very successful.

GEORGE R. SWAIN WILL FEED TWO LOADS OF CATTLE

Purchases Forty Head in St. Louis to Feed for August Market.

George Swain, of the Sinclair neighborhood, is one of the few Morgan county stockmen who will this season as usual have a number of feeding cattle on his farm. The past week he purchased forty head of steers in St. Louis. In some other years he has made his purchases in Chicago, but it is not possible to ship from that market this season, and it is only recently that certain restrictions have been removed at the National Stock Yards which makes it possible to ship into Illinois.

Mr. Swain's cattle averaged 1,025 and cost him $7.25 per hundred. He will put them on practically full feed at once, as he has on hand enough corn to take care of them until some time in August. He will keep them in his well equipped feeding lots until grass is ready, when they will have access to a splendid piece of pasture.

Mr. Swain operates cattle feeding on a different plan than that followed by A. A. Curry, of Pisgah, but both have been successful. Mr. Swain usually buys cattle weighing 1,000 pounds or more and puts them on full feed while Mr. Curry's plan is to buy thinner cattle and feed them little in addition to grass.

When the cattle of both reach the market they are, of course, sold on an entirely different basis, but, as stated, both men are successful on the particular feeding plan that they follow. Mr. Curry's theory has always been that he made more money and took less risk by buying thin cattle and feeding them only grass than he did with a better grade of stock, fattening them on corn.

WAR AND PEACE

I talked with Wax, my neighbor, about the boon of peace; the work of gun and sabre, we both agreed, should cease. "There is no sense in fighting, in killing men," Wax said; "all wrongs men should be righting by peaceful means instead; but then the allied nations of peace were tired and sore, and hence these tribulations—they simply honed for gore." And then I preached some sermons, to show that Wax was wrong; "the blame rests with the Germans, with war machine so strong." One word led to another, until we came to blows, and Wax, that man and brother, I smote upon the nose. He climbed upon my shoulders and loosened seven slats; and then we threw some shoulders, old cabbages and cats. The peckers came and choked us and dragged us off to jail, and then the jurist soaked us for quite a bunch of kale. And since that day I'm wiser; I talk of peace no more; I know how king and kaiser get mad and thirst for gore. The "banish war" oration looks now like thirty cents; for man is like a nation, and kings are human gents.

Mrs. Baker So Weak—Could Not Do Her Work—Found Relief In Novel Way.

Adrian, Mich.—“I suffered terribly with female weakness and backache and got so weak that I could hardly do my work. When I washed my dishes I had to sit down and when I would sweep the floor I would get so weak that I would have to get a drink every few minutes, and before I did my dusting I would have to lie down. I got so poorly that my folks thought I was going into consumption. One day I found a piece of paper blowing around the yard and I picked it up and read it. It said ‘Saved from the Grave,’ and told what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for women. I showed it to my husband and he said, ‘Why don't you try it?’ So I did, and after I had taken two bottles I felt better and I said to my husband, ‘I don't need any more,’ and he said ‘You had better take it a little longer anyway.’ So I took it for three months and got well and strong.”—Mrs. ALONZO E. Severe Blood Troubles Vanish

With Magic Effect, Great Remedy Makes Disease Disappear.

At almost any drug store you may obtain S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, and you then have the veritable wizard that makes all blood troubles vanish. Your stomach takes kindly to S. S. S., it rushes into your blood, is a purifying wave, makes the liver, kidneys, bladder and skin work in harmony; stops accumulations that have caused rheumatism, eczema, swollen glands, sore throat and skin eruptions.

Just as food makes blood, so does S. S. S. follow the process of digestion to stimulate natural secretions to protect us against the ravages of disease germs. We are well aware of the fact that these germs are apt to be latent within us to break forth in violent eruptions of the skin whenever the system is in a low state of resistance. And it is to both prevent these eruptions or to get rid of them that Nature gave us such an ally as S. S. S. It is purely vegetable, contains no mercury, and yet it overcomes those serious troubles for which mercury has been employed for ages. In every community are people who know this to be true. They owe to S. S. S. their recovery. Get a bottle today. Refuse all substitutes. Read the folder around the bottle that tells of the wonderful work being done by the medical department in assisting users of S. S. S. GERMAN STEAMSHIP CASE TO BE CONSIDERED MONDAY

Five Officers of Hamburg-American Liner Will be Arranged Before Federal District Court—Breaches of Neutrality is the Charge.

New York, March 13.—The indictments found by the Federal Grand Jury against five officers of the Hamburg-American line, one of whom formerly held high office in the German government, are expected to be called up again on Monday in the Federal District Court. Those so far arraigned have been allowed until March 15 to change their tentative pleas of not guilty, and it is expected that all of the five men will appear on Monday.

It was this case that brought to the attention of the administration the fact that no suitable law existed on which the men could be indicted for breach of American neutrality, and in consequence a law was passed just as Congress closed on March 4th, extending the President's powers in dealing with similar situations, by which belligerent war vessels of the American coast can be prevented from getting coal and provisions illegally from American ports.

The defendants in the Hamburg line case are:
Dr. Carl Buentz, former district judge in Germany, Mayor of a German city, German Consul at Chicago, German Consul at New York and German minister to Mexico. He is now director in charge of the New York office of the Hamburg line.
George Koetter, supervising engineer of the line.
Adolph Hachmeister, purchasing agent of the line.
Walter Poppenhause, supercargo on the steamship Berwind, which was chartered last summer by the Hamburg-American line.
Felix Seffner, supercargo on the steamship Lorenzo, which was surprised and captured by a British cruiser while coaling the Karlsruhe.

The indictments were returned, in each of which the Hamburg-American line and the five individuals are named. The first indictment charges the defendants with conspiracy “to defraud the United States in and by causing collectors of customs by means of false statements, to make, record and transmit untrue and inaccurate records.”

The second indictment charges conspiracy to defraud the United States in and by obtaining clearance papers by means of false manifestos.

The investigation before the Federal Grand Jury, which began in February, is understood to have been prompted by a complaint by Sir Courtenay Bennett, British consul-general at New York. Besides the cases of the Berwind and the Lorenzo, two others were involved in the complaint. They are the Norwegian steamers Fram and Sommerstad. An agreement alleged to have been entered into between one Carl Buntz, described as a director of the Hamburg-American line, and the owners of the Norwegian vessels was one of the documents submitted. In this alleged agreement, the line assumed responsibility for the charges, guaranteed the value of the vessels if they should be seized by any belligerent power and agreed to become responsible for all damage to the ships in case the vessels are damaged by reason of the attempt to transfer the cargo or part of the cargo to a German steamship or to a German navy war vessel.

The alleged agreement with the owners of the Fram and the Sommerstad was signed Sept. 23, 1914. Revelations concerning the Lorenzo and the Berwind are said to have caused the owners of the Norwegian vessels to cancel the charters.

The Lorenzo was loaded with 3977 tons of coal by the firm of Wessels, Kulenkamp & Co., of New York, and was captured while transferring the coal to the Karlsruhe, which had such a notable career on the high seas. The Berwind was loaded with 2737 tons of coal by the same concern, and cleared ostensibly for Buenos Ayres on August 5. She arrived at Rio Janeiro Sept. 18, more than two weeks overdue. Her arrival at Rio Janeiro caused the government officials to sit up and take notice.

The indictments charge that the conspiracy was continued until Feb. 25, last and was formed by the defendants with others “unlawfully, corruptly, wilfully and feloniously defrauding the United States” by chartering steamships falsely cleared from ports in the United States with the intent of having the vessels, by direction of supercargoes placed aboard them, proceed to various places other than those mentioned in clearance papers and there meet and deliver to ships belonging to or under the control and direction of a foreign country the supplies falsely described in the manifests recorded at the custom house.

The absence of any reference to a possible breach of neutrality in the indictments was explained by federal officials as due to the difficulty of applying the existing neutrality law to modern war conditions. The law prohibited the fitting out of any American ship to any American port, but it did not prohibit the sailing of an American ship to any country with any class of goods. Consequently it was felt that it might be difficult to get a conviction for breach of the neutrality statute.

Dr. Karl Buentz has been ill, and Seffner, one of the supercargoes, was out of the city when the men were arraigned.

CONSIDERABLE ADDITIONS TO LIST OF CONTRABAND
Washington, March 12.—News today of considerable additions to the already formidable list of contraband laid down by the British government was received with evident surprise at the state department. Official notice of the new order in council has not yet reached the department. Officials frankly confess their inability to understand the underlying principles of the British action which is expected to result in further serious embarrassment to American trade.

In All the World No Trip Like This

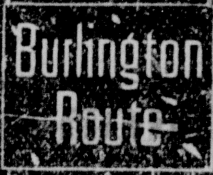

It's almost a man's duty as an educational process, to take his family, while the railroad fares to California have been left in two and visit the great Expositions at San Francisco and San Diego; seeing on the way out the marvelous Mountain Scenery of Colorado—Denver, Colorado Springs, Pikes Peak, Pueblo, the stupendous and world-famous Royal Gorge, and Salt Lake City. Then you should return by way of the North Pacific Coast and either Glacier or Yellowstone National Park. You will never have the same opportunity and if you use the thorough Pullman service of the Burlington Route, (C. B. & Q. R. R.) or join one of those comfortable, economical and care-free Personally Conducted excursions, you can see the wonders of Colorado without extra cost, for you will pass all those most interesting points by daylight. Don't forget that.

Here's the idea—Sit right down and write, or come in and tell me how many expect to make the trip, just when you want to go, the points you want to visit, how long you expect to stay, and I will plan a trip especially fitted to your time and needs—then you will know all about it. If you decide to go, I will make arrangements for your complete trip, when the time comes for you to start. Do it today—before you forget it.

Get Ready for the Easter Parade

The “fixing up” idea which absorbs more or less of our attention as the Easter season approaches should not be confined entirely to the matter of clothes. The thought to make one-self as attractive as possible is not at all inconsistent with our Lenten duties and suggests that at least a reasonable amount of attention be devoted to the hair.

Any scheme of adornment to be complete must include the use of

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

The Delightful Hair Dressing and Hair Beautifier. There is a subtle charm about pretty hair, nicely dressed, that lends as much to personal appearance as does the combined skill of the beauty doctor and modiste.

Dandruff, which is the cause of most hair troubles, is now known to be a contagious disease. The action of Herpicide is based on this fact and therein lies its great value. By destroying the contagion, Herpicide checks the loss of hair and imparts to it a luster and beauty sought for and admired by all. The intelligent use of this valuable hair saver and scalp prophylactic will correct every condition short of chronic baldness and thus permit the hair to resume its natural growth and luxuriance. There is an exquisite fragrance to Newbro's Herpicide that appeals to every refined taste.

A SOLDIER, A SEAMAN AND A FRONTIERSMAN

All of These Titles Belong to James Roundtree of Franklin.

Franklin was represented in the city yesterday by a man with a record not often equaled. The person was James Roundtree who enlisted in the union army when but eighteen years of age serving in Co. A, 69th New York Infantry, under Gen. Grant. He was in the contests at Arlington Heights, the Wilderness, Vicksburg, and finally at Appomattox where he was present at the surrender of Lee and saw the Confederate leader on that memorable occasion.

He was mustered out in 1865 and two years later enlisted in the navy and served as a seaman on the battleship Hartford traveling over a good deal of the world. One part of the Hartford's duty was to bring home ships that had been interned or scattered during the civil war.

In 1872 he enlisted in Co. D, 7th U. S. Cavalry, and served five years and eight months under the famous Gen. Custer till that hero lost his life at Big Horn. The only reason Mr. Roundtree wasn't in that memorable massacre is the fact that he was a short distance away, being detailed to guard the pack train.

He was all over the west and personally knew W. D. Cody and had a talk with him when he was here not long ago. After his time in the cavalry regiment was out he concluded he had had enough of military life and came to this country and for a while worked for the late James T. Holmes in the southeast part of the county. He is now seventy years old but still hale and hearty and bids fair to be here a long time yet. He is married and has one daughter, Mrs. Lottie Mayfield, and three grandchildren.

In his youth he became interested in photography, and when he became an actor and theatrical manager, he realized the value of the motion picture film, then in its early development. He made many inventions in the photographing processes necessary to secure effective films. In 1896 he went into the motion picture business, and established plants at Chicago, Los Angeles and London. He financed the expeditions of Prof. Frederick Starr to Africa, Korea, Japan and the Philippines, those of Dr. E. B. McDowell to China, Africa and India, and that of Emmett O'Neill to the Amazon river. Mr. Selig married Miss Mary H. Pinkham of Stockholm, Cal., in 1900.

The Broad Way Leads to Goodyear Tires

Try it a little while. It has carried some 400,000 motorists to the haven of content. It is traveled by more users than has any other tire. That has been so for years.

We can't win you to Fortified Tires by asking you to try them. The tires themselves must win you.

But our plan is that you should try the tires that countless men found best. There must be a reason as you know, why Goodyears dominate like this. Last year men bought about one Goodyear for every car in use.

Men Like You

This Goodyear army is composed of men like you. They want quality, safety, endurance. They want trouble-saving and low cost per mile.

Goodyears best met these wants. They met them because they are Fortified Tires.

HORSE FEEDERS

WOOD'S IMPROVED
GRAIN SOFTENER
Pat. Jan. 8th, 1915.

We find after several tests on feeding horses, softened grain with all its strength retained in it, is the best feed for a horse that can be fed. It keeps them in a healthier condition, and they will drive better, do more work, look better, beside we save one-third the feed. I will furnish one plant in each town, one on 30 days free trial to prove my claims, and I will furnish one of my plants in each county, on 30 days free trial to prove it is the best cattle feed, and the slop of the mush fed cattle the best hog feed. A little soda is good for all classes of stock; helps them digest their feed. I ask all cattle feeders and horse feeders to try one.

2 gallons of corn with the cob in it cooked will make all any steer can eat, and gain 3-4 to 4 pounds per day, if clover is fed with it in dry lots.

1 gallon with the cob in it makes a day's feed for a horse.

1 gallon corn with ground clover in it feeds a hog a day.

LAND O'NOD STORIES

SHARPNOSE GETS FOOLED

"Old Sharpnose sure is having a hard time finding his dinner," said Billy Be By Bo Bum, after he and Tinker Teedle Tee the merry little elf had followed the trail of the big brown mink for more than a mile along the bank of the dried up creek that wound its crooked way through the White Forest.

"Yes sir, he sure is," replied Tinker Teedle Tee. "But Sharpnose is a bully good hunter and the most patient fellow alive. In fact, the hungrier he is, the more patient he becomes. So one thing is certain, if we follow his tracks far enough, we will find where he had a good meal."

"So Billy Be By Bo Bum and the merry little elf, who you know, was only about as big as an insect, trudged on and on over the snow carpeted floor of the White Forest."

"Now I wonder what the old rascal was up to here," said Billy, as the double row of neat little footprints stopped under a big pine and then circled around and around the base of the tree. "See Tinker, he ran around this tree so many times a regular path is worn in the snow, just as it was back there where the trap was hidden in the hollow log, but I don't see where any trap could be hidden here, do you?"

"No, I don't believe Mr. Mink was afraid of a trap this time," replied Tinker Teedle Tee. "He was just trying to figure out a way of catching a dinner that was out of his reach."

"It must have been a bird," said Billy. "Any other of the Little People would have left their tracks in the snow." "Right you are Billy Bo. You guessed right the very first time, for, unless I am very much mistaken, plump little Mrs. Partridge was roosting in the branches of this tree last night."

"I'll bet it made old Sharpnose mad to see such a fine dinner so near and yet out of his reach," said Billy.

"Yes, I guess it did," answered Tinker. "I can just see Mrs. Partridge watching him out of the corners of her bright little eyes and laughing to herself at Mr. Mink below her on the ground. But she doesn't always laugh at Mr. Mink. In the Spring and Summer when she lays her eggs and brings up a brood of little partridges, she fears Sharpnose as much as do any of the other Little People, for the old villain has a fondness for partridge eggs. He thinks they are the finest things to eat there is and would travel all day and all night if he thought a meal of them was waiting for him. As Mrs. Partridge builds her nest on the ground, she has no way to protect her eggs from Mr. Mink, if his sharp little nose leads him to the spot, where she has built her nest. But he didn't get her this time, and as he gave up trying and went on about his hunting, I'll bet he felt just as did Fleetfoot, the sly old Fox, the time he tried to rob the grapevine."

"Why how did Mr. Fox feel then?" asked Billy.

"Do you mean to tell me you never heard that story?" demanded Tinker Teedle Tee in surprise.

"No sir, I never did, so please tell me all about it Tinker," coaxed Billy.

"Well one summer evening when the moon was shining bright, Fleetfoot the Fox made up his mind to rob Farmer Meadow's chicken roost. But when he reached the barnyard, he found the henhouse was locked up as tight as tight as could be, and there was no way to get in at the Biddies. Of course that made Fleetfoot mad, for he was very very hungry. So when he found he would have to go without a chicken dinner, he sneaked into the garden where the grape vine grew up over an arbor.

The vine was loaded with dozens of bunches of fine, juicy grapes, but they all hung quite a distance from the ground. That didn't bother Mr. Fox, for he is a handy jumper. So he gathered himself together and sprang into the air, snapping at the grapes with his jaws. But he didn't jump quite high enough, so he tried again. This time he came a little nearer but still not near enough. Again and again he tried, but he always fell just a wee bit short of those fine, juicy grapes. Every time he jumped and missed, he got madder, until at last he couldn't see straight, he was so angry. Then he gave up in disgust, and as he sneaked off through the garden he muttered to himself: 'Well, I didn't want those grapes anyway. I know they are as sour as can be,' although down in his heart he knew they were sweet and that he wanted them in the worst way."

So when Sharpnose made up his mind he couldn't catch Mrs. Partridge and went on about his hunting, I imagine he said to himself: 'I wouldn't eat Mrs. Partridge if she was to fall right off her perch into my mouth. She is a skinny old hag of bones, tough as shoe leather and not worth bothering about.'

"But Sharpnose must be getting awfully hungry, he is having such a hard time finding his dinner," said Billy.

"Never mind, we will follow his trail a little further," said Tinker, and next week I'll tell you how Mr. Mink found his dinner."

Minneapolis, Minn., March 13.—The University of Minnesota is in the midst of a social sensation. Sigma Tau, a senior honor society, will entertain tonight at a dancing party, and the guests of the girls will be the 20 most popular and most beautiful young men of the senior class. The young Apollos were notified last night of their selection for the "beauty" roles, and great was the chagrin of the less-favored seniors. Among the specifications on which the selections were made these: he must not wear padded shoulders, he must be able to fox trot, and must display a fondness for Isben. A premium was set on masterful chins, but curly hair has not counted heavily in the specifications.

The unique chapel is 86 feet long, and has observation platforms at both ends of the car. It has a seating capacity of 72, and the "crew" consists of one chaplain, an assistant and one attendant. "A good tire is like a man who is fit. If he's too fat he can't be light. That's the way with a tire. If it has more than just enough rubber, it's like a man who is too fat. If it has not enough rubber, it's like a man who is too thin. Diamond Tires have just the right amount of good tough rubber—neither too much nor too little to make them right."

—Mister Squeegie

The wonderful record made by Diamond Tires last year proves that they are right structurally.

It proves that the materials we put into Diamond Tires have the weight, strength and wearing qualities that combine to give the most economical mileage in actual service.

Recently we conducted a test by mail to find out what jobbers and tire dealers had to say about 1914 Diamond Tire records. The hundreds of letters received from them show that Diamond Tires have more than made good.

These letters from dealers in all parts of the country, show that Diamond Tires in 1914 established a service record which stands supreme. We have put these letters into a book. They furnish concrete evidence of the big mileage Diamond users get and the freedom from tire troubles they enjoy.

Write to Akron, Ohio, for this remarkable book of letters. It's a wallop!—and we want you to have a copy.

In addition to the extraordinary mileage and freedom from trouble that you get in Diamond Squeegie Tread Tires, you can buy them at the following

JUDGE LOCKWOOD PROMINENT IN THE STATE HISTORY

Anti-Bellum Days in the Illinois Legislature—The Constitutional Convention of 1847—Some War Facts.

Much against his financial and all other personal interests, Judge Lockwood accepted a position as associate justice on the supreme bench of the state and while serving in that capacity he revised the criminal code which was a laborious undertaking but done with the usual thoroughness and painstaking that characterized all he did.

At that time it was lawful for the owner of slaves to bring them into the state and retain them and colored persons indentured or bound could be held as chattels during the term of years for which the contract lasted. Judge Lockwood was an ardent anti-slavery man yet he was called on to render two decisions retaining in bondage colored persons who had sought to gain their liberty and in that he manifested his high character.

The legislature was strongly pro-slavery and then as ever since, such men stopped at nothing, even secession and rebellion, to carry their point and perpetuate the iniquitous infamy which so long was a foul blot on the escutcheon of our beautiful land. There were at that time four judges and the chief on the supreme bench and the legislature did every thing to annoy Judges Lockwood and Brown in order to induce them to resign and nothing but a high sense of duty prevented them from doing so. Among other dastardly acts was increasing the number of judges to nine of whom Stephen A. Douglas was one, and compelling them to do circuit duty making their lives a burden and hardship.

This necessitated a change in residence and Judge Lockwood came to this city in 1828 and he remained here till 1853. The work was very onerous but performed from a sense of duty. The legislature tried to oust Judge Brown on the pretense that he was physically unable to perform the work but it failed.

Judge Lockwood had a regular set of instructions he gave each grand jury and it is a master piece of English diction and wholesome advice. In it is also an impassioned plea for temperance and a stinging arraignment of the vice of intemperance which would make excellent material to day for a temperance orator and it was delivered at a time when men of all classes drank without a thought of immorality or wrong doing.

The Great Conflict.
The great conflict of the state was yet to come for slaveholders had their eye on the rich prairies of the efforts of their friends. Feeling state and wanted it to be slave territory and to that end they bent all their energies and enlisted the ran high all over the state and continued until the war and even during that struggle.

A minister residing in this city said to the writer that once he was present at a union thanksgiving service in one of the churches of Jacksonville and during the exercises a minister in prayer said: "We pray thee, Oh Lord, in thine own good time and in thine own good way thou wilt rid this land of the evil of slavery."

After the benediction had been pronounced and the congregation was dispersing a prominent citizen of Jacksonville arose and shouted: "I don't want even by silence seem to countenance the pernicious doctrine of abolitionism as expressed in a prayer here today."

The feeling ran high and was extremely bitter. Almost all classes joined in it from adults to children. But so high was the standing of Judge Lockwood that he was chosen attorney general by the legislature and performed the duties of the office with signal ability.

Finally it was decided by the advocates of slavery to have a convention called to frame a constitutional amendment which would make the state slave territory and then the contest began in earnest. All manner of means, fair and foul, were resorted to by the advocates of the iniquity. In joint session the legislature lacked one of a sufficient number to order the matter brought before the people and, equal to the occasion, they unseated a man fairly and honorably elected and put in his place a defeated Democrat candidate.

As the mistaken chief priests thought they had forever disposed of the Master when they saw him hung to the cross, so the advocates of human slavery thought they had gained their point when the measure passed the legislature and like the evil doers of old they were badly mistaken. They were wild with joy at the action of the lawmakers at Vandalia and there were boisterous scenes of merrymaking over the result for there was such a feeling they were sure the call for the convention would be ratified by the people at the polls.

upholders of slavery it seemed that the cause of freedom was doomed but a Higher Power was at work and when the election was held the result was 1972 for the convention and 6649 against it. The wrath of the Democrats knew no bounds and the rejoicing of their opponents was equally great.

The Constitutional Convention of 1847.
The arrangement of judges proved unsatisfactory even to the party that had arranged it so a constitutional convention was agreed on in 1847 and Morgan county people did a sensible thing. Both parties agreed to name two men each all vote for them so for the Democrats James Dunlap and Newton Cloud were selected and for the Whigs, Judge William Thomas and Judge Lockwood. Mr. Dunlap seems to have had a rather inconspicuous part in the deliberations but Mr. Cloud was made chairman while Judge Lockwood was chairman of the executive department.

He was opposed to the election of judges by popular vote but was overruled. The Whigs fought hard for two things; restriction of suffrage to citizenship and against repudiation. Heretofore the right to vote was conferred on white male inhabitants letting in aliens and all sorts of men. The state had unwisely borrowed large sums of money which had been foolishly expended and the public debt was fearful and a great many favored repudiation but men like Judge Lockwood carried the day in both cases. Judge Lockwood also prepared and Judge Thomas presented a preamble acknowledging the Divine Creator.

He Retires from Office.
In 1848 his term as judge expired and he declined to be a candidate for re-election to the place he had ably filled for 24 years and from many, including Judge Thomas, Stephen A. Douglas, D. M. Wood, son, afterward judge and many others with whom he had come in contact while on the bench received most cordial letters of appreciation. In 1850 congress granted to the state 3,000,000 acres of land with which to aid and secure the Illinois Central railroad. Here was a chance for graft but wiser counsels prevailed and the matter was put into the hands of three trustees, one named by the company and two by the legislature and Judge Lockwood was one of the latter and found it necessary in 1853 to move to Batavia, near Chicago for the discharge of his duties.

His Work for Education.
The early history of legislation in our state regarding schools is a disgrace. The government allotted a section of land in each township for educational purposes but the scheme was looked on as a Yankee enterprise, the land was almost always sold and the money devoted to other purposes. Previous to 1828 Gov. Cole and Joseph Duncan of this place secured some good school legislation but the legislature of 1826, with a strong pro-slavery majority, repealed the good laws and declared that no one should be taxed for school purposes without his written consent and so the schools languished till 1855 when a good law was enacted and it was much the same as the measure advised by Jos. later Gov. Duncan.

But Judge Lockwood, Dennis Rockwell, Thos. Lippincott, father of J. P. Lippincott of this city, Rev. John M. Ellis and others were indefatigable in their efforts to secure means of education and finally an organization was perfected and funds secured for a beginning. At first St. Louis was considered as a site, then St. Clair and Madison counties and only the advice and efforts of Judge Lockwood kept the college from one of these locations. Judge Lockwood was so earnest for Jacksonville that he offered to pay the expenses of Messrs. Lippincott and Ellis from the southern part of the state if they would make a trip to Jacksonville and investigate its attractions.

The college was located and with great liberality Judge Lockwood gave up a tract of land he owned for the purpose and the next difficulty was to get a charter. The legislature was shy of anything that seemed like a Yankee enterprise but in that body the college had a valuable friend. Judge William Thomas and while all history seems to be silent on the subject the fact remains that he managed by shrewd practice to get the bill for a charter through the legislature and the writer has many times heard the old gentleman say with much gusto that he stole the bill through for it could be accomplished in no other way. This was in 1829 and as long as he lived Judge Lockwood was a staunch friend of Illinois college, a trustee and liberal contributor.

Family Life.
The private character and family life of Judge Lockwood were beautiful. His manners were kind and his heart was generous. Knowing the hardship of poverty he helped many young men to an education. October 3d, 1826, he was married to Miss Mary S. Nash, daughter of a staunch Scotch Presbyterian and a lady of rare accomplishment and beauty of character. Of her, the immortal Lincoln said was the best woman God ever made. They lived together 48 years and all of the parents of four daughters all of whom grew to womanhood. Judge Lockwood was prominent in the formation of the Republican party and took great interest in it while he lived. In the quiet of his home, April 23, 1874, he passed away, 85 years old and a year later his wife followed him.

The facts in the foregoing article are gathered principally from a book entitled Life and Times of Samuel D. Lockwood, by William Coffin.

The recital of advanced students last Thursday evening passed off with unusual smoothness. Every student acquitted himself well. For the students' recital last Friday afternoon, March 12th, the program was as follows:

A TRIBUTE TO MRS. CARRIE.
The death of Mrs. George C. Carrie, nee Barre, at New York City, will bring sadness to a number of friends in this city. She was a lady of lovely personality and brilliant accomplishments. Her beautiful soprano voice was in great demand for church and concert work and she sang in some of the greatest churches in New York City and other places. She married the well-known tenor, George C. Carrie of New York, and they spent some time studying in Paris. A number of our people will remember a song recital given here by Mr. and Mrs. Carrie some years ago for the Wednesday Musical Club.

During her girlhood Mrs. Carrie spent a year studying voice in the Jacksonville Conservatory and made many friends here. She is survived by her father, husband, and a brother. Mrs. Carrie was an invalid and a sufferer for several

NOTES & REPORTS

SPRING COMING.

The prospects are unusually bright for a successful Easter Opening and Spring Fashion Show, the date of which has been set for Wednesday, March 17th. The project this year is backed by over thirty of the city's prominent merchants who are doing all in their power to promote the day. Special features will mark the opening in most of the stores, and the window and interior displays will be well worth coming many miles to see.

Jacksonville cordially invites the citizens of Morgan and nearby counties to take advantage of this special day, and, as an extra inducement, railroad fares will be refunded in accordance with the rules of the association.

BOULEVARD LIGHT.

The pledges made for the installation of the Boulevard Lighting System are now being collected by the secretary, and it is the desire of the board of directors to collect the total sum as rapidly as possible, in order that the contracts may be let at once and the work pushed with all possible speed. Preparations are being made for a special celebration when the installation is complete and the lights are turned on, and in all probability several prominent visitors will be present and assist in bringing Jacksonville from "darkness into light."

ARMORY APPROPRIATION.

It is the intention of the secretary to place the matter of an appropriation for a State Armory in Jacksonville before this session of the legislature.

Jacksonville is one of the largest cities in the state with two military companies which has no armory for the proper housing and accommodations of the same. Data are now being secured and the matter will be pushed vigorously until results are secured. Any business man or citizen of Jacksonville who has any information along this line which might assist the secretary in handling this matter is requested to call 655 on either phone or arrange for a personal interview with him at once.

GOOD ROADS.

The question of the neglect of the dirt roads within the city limits is being forcibly called to the attention of the merchants of the city by the farmers who trade here and who claim that the worst stretches of road over which they travel are those just inside or close to the limits of Jacksonville. This matter was discussed at some length by the directors in their monthly meeting last Tuesday and action will be taken in the near future to remedy this condition.

Another suggestion of the Rural Affairs committee which met with hearty approval is the marking of trails into and through Jacksonville. Well defined roads into a city especially if they are in good repair are means of drawing much trade.

EIGHT TEAMS TO COMPETE IN INDOOR MEET NEXT SATURDAY

Three Cornered Struggle Between Illinois, Chicago and Wisconsin. For First Place is Predicted.

Chicago, March 13.—A three cornered struggle with Illinois, the 1914 champion, Chicago and Wisconsin fighting for leading honors is predicted for the annual conference indoor meet which will be held at Patten gymnasium, Evanston, next Saturday night.

Eight teams will compete, only Iowa, which found the expense of sending a team too heavy, it is said, being unrepresented. The speedy track men of Illinois and Chicago will be depended on to win for their teams while Wisconsin's hopes largely center in the field events with Stiles in the high jump and Keller in the shot put.

Purdue and Northwestern are expected to cut into the point total considerably but critics credit Minnesota, Ohio State and Indiana with little chance for a good showing.

Besides the two mentioned a third event will be the pole vault and the six track numbers are the fifty yard and 440 yard dashes and the 880 yard, mile and two mile runs and the sixty yard high hurdles.

EUROPEAN WAR NOTES

Paris, March 12.—(11:55 a. m.)—The advance of the British troops in the vicinity of Nueve Chapelle is estimated at about four miles in a despatch reaching here today from Bethune. The Germans are declared to have been forced back beyond the forest. This advance of the British includes their various forward movements since the beginning of their activities at this point.

Berlin, March 12.—By wireless to Sayville.—The Overseas News Agency gave out the following items late today:

The Greek ambassador at Berlin denies the report recently published that an attempt had been made to assassinate King Constantine of Greece. The ambassador says that the report probably arose from the fact that an insane person was arrested in the neighborhood of the palace at Athens.

From Oct. 24th. to March 1st, 20,475 persons returned from concentration camps of belligerent camps by way of Switzerland. There were 7,671 Germans, 1,185 Austrians and Hungarians and 19,845 French.

The Government of Luxemburg has resolved to seize all stocks of grain and other food supplies.

Valparaiso, Chile, March 13.—It was learned today that the British Bark Conway Castle, sunk off Corral on the Chilean coast by the German cruiser Dresden was sent to the bottom on Feb. 27.

Buenos Aires, Argentina, March 13.—The date upon which the French Steamer Guadeloupe was sent to the bottom by the German auxiliary cruiser Kron Prinz Wilhelm is February 21st. This shows that her crew and 145 passengers were three weeks on board the British Steamer Chase Hill before they were disembarked at Pernambuco yesterday.

A GOOD HATCH.

Mrs. E. O. Sample residing a short distance east of the city is much gratified over the results obtained when she opened her incubator in which she about three weeks since placed 110 S. C. Rhode Island Red chicken eggs, which tested out 7 eggs, and the hatch was 92. This is a return of over 83 per cent of the eggs set which is a most excellent showing.

GIRLS! STOP WASHING THE HAIR WITH SOAP

Soap Dries Your Scalp, Causing Dandruff, Then Hair Falls Out.

After washing your hair with soap always apply a little Danderine to the scalp to invigorate the hair and prevent dryness. Better still, use soap as sparingly as possible, and instead have a "Danderine Hair Cleanse." Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one strand at a time. This will remove dust, dirt and excessive oil. In a few moments you will be amazed, your hair will not only be clean, but it will be wavy, fluffy and abundant, and possess an incomparable softness and lustre.

Besides cleansing and beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; stimulates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

Men! Ladies! You can surely have lots of charming hair. Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it.—Adv.

MONSTER POWDER PLANT OPENS.

Norfolk, Va., March 13.—On Monday the manufacturer of smokeless powder will be begun at the biggest powder plant in the world, just built by the Du Pont Powder company at Hopewell, on the James River. It is said that the plant has cost $5,000,000 and that 6,000 skilled laborers will be employed. The enormous contracts which the Du Ponts are said to have signed with European governments for ammunition have taken beyond their capacity the plants in Delaware and Pennsylvania. One contract alone is said to be for $50,000,000.

WORLD'S MARKET NEWS

SALES TO REALIZE PROFITS
LEAVE WHEAT PRICES WEAK

Early Rise is Caused by Indications of Overstatements Regarding Progress Attained by Fleet Assailing Dardanelles—corn and Oats Gain.

Chicago, March 13.—Assertions that much less progress had been made in forcing the Dardanelles than had been generally supposed gave the wheat market today a sudden upward swing. On account of sales to realize profits, however, the close was weak at a range 1/2 off to 1/2 up, compared with last night. Corn gained 1/2 to 1/2 net, oats 1/2 to 1/2 net, and provisions
1/2 to 1/2 net.

Notwithstanding that the wheat market had an upward tendency at the start, no unusual advance in values took place until an hour later when Paris dispatches were made public indicating that serious over-statements had been made as to the headway attained by the fleet assailing the defenses of Constantinople.
This hint of unlooked for delay in releasing the greatly desired wheat surplus now piled up in Russia had an immediate affect upon the market here the direct results being in some cases gains of more than two cents a bushel. European demand for cash wheat remained as urgent as heretofore, but the amount contracted for today was relatively small owing in the main to inability to obtain any large quantities in the west. The bulk of stocks at terminal points was said to have been already sold for shipment and there was no dispo-

JENKINSON-BODE CO. Jacksonville, IllinoisVETERANS WILL TALK*ABOUT THE WAR TODAY

Major Johnson Will Come From Springfield to Be Guest of Capt. Smith—Served in Same Regiment Throughout War—March 14th Historic Date.

Major E. S. Johnson will come from Springfield this morning to spend Sunday with his long time friend, Capt. Alexander Smith. Major Johnson has been for twenty years or more, custodian of the Lincoln monument at Springfield. He has spent practically all his life in Springfield and was one of the Zouave Grays of that city who enlisted in Co. I of the 7th Illinois infantry. This was one of the companies drilled by Col. Ellsworth, as was Co. E of the same regiment in which Capt. Smith enlisted.

Early in their soldier life these two became acquainted, and the friendship established in war times has continued ever since. They both have the unusual record of having served first for the three months period, then for three years, and afterward in the veteran service. Shortly after Major Johnson enlisted he became a first sergeant and afterward was elevated to a first lieutenant. At the battle of Ft. Donelson, Feb. 13, 1862, the first man killed was Capt. Noah Mendall of Co. L, 7th Ill. infantry, and by his death, First Lieut. John was advanced to a captaincy. When the veteran service was reorganized, he became a major and remained in the service until the troops were mustered out July 9, 1865.

Afterward he engaged in the hotel business in Springfield, where he owned for a long period the Revere House, which was bequeathed to him by his father. Then, as indicated, he was appointed custodian of the Lincoln monument, and his fitness for the position from his character and attainments, as well as from his war record, has been so well established and recognized that he has been continued in the position from administration to administration. It so happens that Major Johnson's visit at this time falls upon a date which is notable both to him and to his host, Capt. Smith. March 14th was the day that the regiment in which both were serving landed from the steamer "E. H. Fairchild" at Pittsburg Landing preparatory to the great battle of Shiloh which occurred the 6th and 7th of April, 1862. It goes without saying that today will be one of war reminiscence at Capt. Smith's home, and many of the most important battles of the great war will be fought again.

A Story of a Trip to the Exposition

THERE are seven members in the party—John Radcliffe, his wife, son and daughter, two college chums of the son and a girl chum of the daughter. The father and mother are about forty-five. Mr. Radcliffe is one of those men who always stay young—who mingles with young men and dresses young. His wife is also of the same type. Their son, who is about twenty-three, is tall and of athletic build. His chums are of about his own age and type. The daughter is about twenty—a bright, good looking, vivacious girl. Her girl chum is about her own age, and represents the third woman of the party.

The trip is made in Mr. Radcliffe's car. The illustration shows them on the day of their arrival, where, from an elevation, they see the exposition buildings and grounds for the first time; also an excellent view of San Francisco Bay and Fort Mason.

On page three the party is just starting out on their first day's trip. Joe Radcliffe is in the foreground and is beckoning to the other members of the party to follow him. He is dressed in a Poole suit of soft, fashionable checked pattern. On each page of the book is shown views of the buildings. These appear in the nature of backgrounds. On pages eight and nine, which is a center spread, the party is grouped on a balcony of the Tower of Jewels, looking toward the Palace of Horticulture. The men are dressed in our Society Brand Master, Budd, D'Orsay and York models. On page eleven the party is walking toward the Tower of Jewels, which is the south entrance to the Court of Sun and Stars. This tower is the dominant architectural feature of the exposition; stands four hundred and thirty feet high and its base covers an acre of ground. The dominant figure in this picture is dressed in our Society Brand Milbanke model.

On page fifteen our party is shown grouped around a fountain near the Palace of Horticulture. They are all dressed in outing garments. The men wear touring suits.

It is an entertaining story told in an interesting way. It contains brief descriptions of the buildings and models the members of the party are wearing. In the whole there is an atmosphere of youth, freshness and snap. It is a party of pals and good fellows.

A copy of the book can be obtained here for the asking.

is at home from Hot Springs, Ark., morning over the Q road for Carpio, where he went for the benefit of his health. He will be ready to go on her husband, who left a week ago with the household goods. They will reside on a farm in the vicinity of Carpio, which is a thriving town of 250 population. They went from a farm in the east part of the county to the north country.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rexroad, former residents of this place, went to Peoria some time since but wisely decided that Morgan county was best and have returned and will occupy a farm north of the city.

Mrs. Dan Hickman and daughter Anna, both of Rock Bridge, are visiting with W. M. Farrington on South Church street. Miss Anna will remain and enter the employ of J. Herman.

Mr. Robbins considerably improved. Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Crabtree went to Murrayville Thursday evening to attend the entertainment and supper tendered the members of the I. O. O. F. lodge by the Rebekahs. Mr. Crabtree was one of those to whom a lapel button was awarded as he had been a member of the lodge for 33 years.

Less than One Cent a Day.

There are hundreds of people in this vicinity who have become accustomed to using a tin box in which to keep their valuables, who by using one of our SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES will find they are safer, strictly private and more satisfactory in every way. It requires two keys to unlock the box. The customer has one and the Bank the other, which is the master key. If you should lose your key, and some one else should find it, it would do them no good, because it would require the master key, which we hold before the box could be opened.

L. W. C. Seniors

Entertain for Juniors.

The annual reception of the Senior Class of the Woman's college to the members of the Junior Class was held Saturday evening at the college. The guests upon arriving were given shamrock and pipes, in sets of six and these six persons after finding their group were asked to give a charade in honor of St. Patrick's day. After punch had been served all repaired to the Domestic Science rooms where a two course supper was served. The decorations were in keeping with St. Patrick's day, the place cards containing appropriate verses.

After the supper the students sang college songs and a number of young men who were present from the University of Illinois sang university songs. Miss Irma Berryman sang three selections, "Mother McRae," "Maloney," and "Bob-o-Link," with Miss Audrey Berryman as accompanist.

Those in the receiving line were Miss Winifred Burneister, president of the class of 1915, and Miss Mary Anderson, class officer; Miss Edna Robb, president of the class of 1914 and Miss Jennie Anderson, class officer and Miss Helen Dinsmore, vice-president of the class of 1915. The senior class numbers ten and the juniors twenty five. The reception proved a most delightful event in every way.

Surprise for Miss Coffman.

Miss Margaret Coffman was given a very pleasant surprise Saturday evening at her home on East State street, the occasion being her birthday. The event was planned by her mother, Mrs. Frank Coffman and there were eighteen guests present. A very pleasant evening was spent with games and music and refreshments were served.

Annual Reception to L. C. Students and Faculty.

The annual reception to students and members of the faculty of Illinois college was given Saturday night by President and Mrs. C. H. Hammelkamp at their home, 310 Lockwood Place.

Stunts put on by the members of the four classes of the college proved a most happy diversion for entertainment, in which a prize was offered for the best production.

A stage had been erected in the south side of the large living room of the president's home and it was here that the freshmen presented "Omet and Oatmella" a take-off on "Hamlet." The play was written by Paul Watkins of Petersburg and it was meritoriously given.

The sophomores presented a satire on the faculty. It represented a meeting of the future faculty after the death of the last remaining member of the present faculty. The remains of each member was put in a glass jar, appropriately labelled and these labels were read by the members of the cast.

The juniors presented a series of cartoons of members of the faculty and prominent students given by stereopticon. The cartoons were from the clever pen of Edward Bullard.

The seniors presented a musical comedy, which afforded much amusement.

The prize was awarded to the Freshmen their offering being easily the hit of the evening. The judges were Prof. Krith, Misses Mary Price and Elson Barnes, and the prize was a five pound box of chocolates.

A suitable collation was served, a number of the young ladies of the college classes assisting Mrs. Hammelkamp in the serving.

JENKINSON-BODE CO.Jacksonville, Illinois*VETERANS WILL TALK*ABOUT THE WAR TODAY

Major Johnson Will Come From Springfield to Be Guest of Capt. Smith—Served in Same Regiment Throughout War—March 14th Historic Date.

Major E. S. Johnson will come from Springfield this morning to spend Sunday with his long time friend, Capt. Alexander Smith. Major Johnson has been for twenty years or more custodian of the Lincoln monument at Springfield. He has spent practically all his life in Springfield and was one of the Zouave Grays of that city who enlisted in Co. I of the 7th Illinois infantry. This was one of the companies drilled by Col. Ellsworth, as was Co. E of the same regiment in which Capt. Smith enlisted.

Early in their soldier life these two became acquainted, and the friendship established in war times has continued ever since. They both have the unusual record of having served first for the three months period, then for three years, and afterward in the veteran service. Shortly after Major Johnson enlisted he became a first sergeant and afterward was elevated to a first lieutenant. At the battle of Ft. Donelson, Feb. 13, 1862, the first man killed was Capt. Noah Mendall of Co. I, 7th Ill. Infantry, and by his death First Lieut. John was advanced to a captaincy. When the veteran service was reorganized, he became a major and remained in the service until the troops were mustered out July 9, 1865.

Afterward he engaged in the hotel business in Springfield where he owned for a long period the Revere House, which was bequeathed to him by his father. Then, as indicated, he was appointed custodian of the Lincoln monument, and his fitness for the position from his character and attainments, as well as from his war record, has been so well established and recognized that he has been continued in the position from administration to administration. It so happens that Major Johnson's visit at this time falls upon a date which is notable both to him and to his host, Capt. Smith. March 14th was the day that the regiment in which both were serving landed from the steamer "E. H. Fairchild" at Pittsburg Landing preparatory to the great battle of Shiloh which occurred the 6th and 7th of April, 1862. It goes without saying that today will be one of war reminiscence at Capt. Smith's home, and many of the most important battles of the great war will be fought again.

MYERS BROTHERS.

A Story of a Trip to the Exposition

THERE are seven members in the party—John Radcliffe, his wife, son and daughter, two college chums of the son and a girl chum of the daughter. The father and mother are about forty-five. Mr. Radcliffe is one of those men who always stay young—who mingles with young men and dresses young. His wife is also of the same type. Their son, who is about twenty-three, is tall and of athletic build. His chums are of about his own age and type. The daughter is about twenty—a bright, good looking, vivacious girl. Her girl chum is about her own age, and represents the third woman of the party.

The trip is made in Mr. Radcliffe's car. The illustration shows them on the day of their arrival, where, from an elevation, they see the exposition buildings and grounds for the first time; also an excellent view of San Francisco Bay and Fort Mason.

On page three the party is just starting out on their first day's trip. Joe Radcliffe is in the foreground and is beckoning to the other members of the party to follow him. He is dressed in a Poole suit of soft, fashionable checked pattern. On each page of the book is shown views of the buildings. These appear in the nature of backgrounds. On pages eight and nine, which is a center spread, the party is grouped on a balcony of the Tower of Jewels, looking toward the Palace of Horticulture. The men are dressed in our Society Brand Master, Budd, D'Orsay and York models. On page eleven the party is walking toward the Tower of Jewels, which is the south entrance to the Court of Sun and Stars. This tower is the dominant architectural feature of the exposition; stands four hundred and thirty feet high and its base covers an acre of ground. The dominant figure in this picture is dressed in our Society Brand Milbanke model.

On page fifteen our party is shown grouped around a fountain near the Palace of Horticulture. They are all dressed in outing garments. The men wear touring suits.

It is an entertaining story told in an interesting way. It contains brief descriptions of the buildings and models the members of the party are wearing. In the whole there is an atmosphere of youth, freshness and snap. It is a party of pals and good fellows.

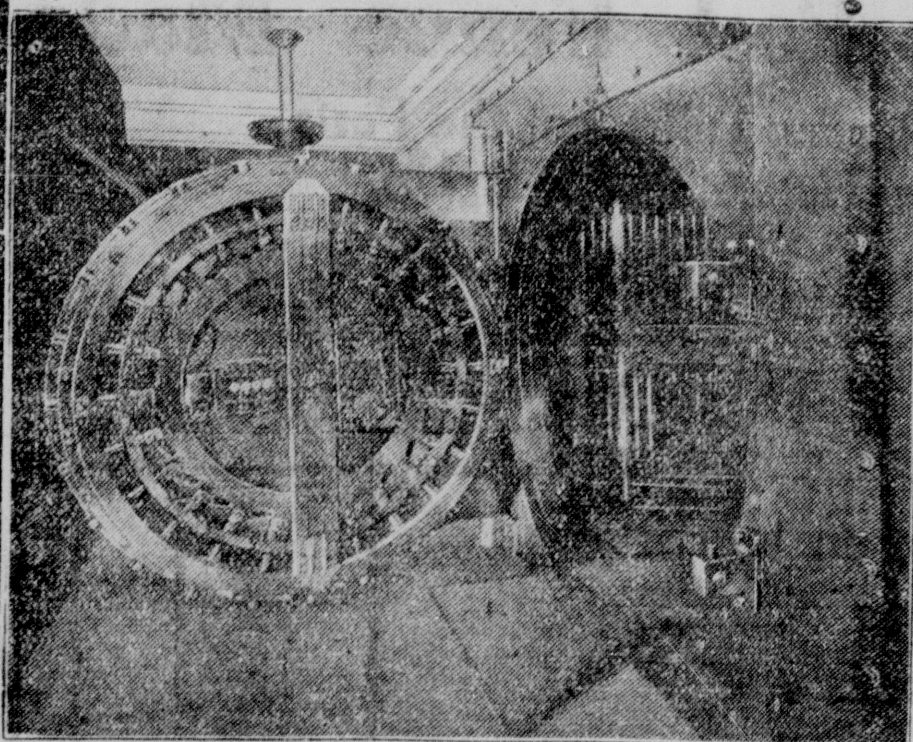

A copy of the book can be obtained here for the asking.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES

$3.00 PER YEAR

Less than One Cent a Day.

There are hundreds of people in this vicinity who have become accustomed to using a tin box in which to keep their valuables, who by using one of our SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES will find they are safer, strictly private and more satisfactory in every way. It requires two keys to unlock the box. The customer has one and the Bank the other, which is the master key. If you should lose your key, and some one else should find it, it would do them no good, because it would require the master key, which we hold before the box could be opened.

There is no better or stronger vault in the United States, and the rate we pay on burglary insurance, which we carry, is the lowest in the country.

Come in and let our vault clerk, Mr. Ewen I. Whitlock, explain.

I. W. C. Seniors Entertain for Juniors.

The annual reception of the Senior Class of the Woman's college to the members of the Junior Class was held Saturday evening at the college. The guests upon arriving were given shamrock and pipes, in sets of six and these six persons after finding their group were asked to give a charade in honor of St. Patrick's day. After punch had been served all repaired to the Domestic Science rooms where a two course supper was served. The decorations were in keeping with St. Patrick's day, the place cards containing appropriate verses.

After the supper the students sang college songs and a number of young men who were present from the University of Illinois sang university songs. Miss Ina Berryman sang three selections, "Mother McRae," "Maloney," and "Bob-o-Link," with Miss Audrey Berryman as accompanist.

Those in the receiving line were Miss Winifred Burmeister, president of the class of 1915, and Miss Mary Anderson, class officer; Miss Edna Robb, president of the class of 1914 and Miss Jennie Anderson, class officer and Miss Helen Dinsmore, vice-president of the class of 1915. Annual Reception to I. C. Students and Faculty.

The annual reception to students and members of the faculty of Illinois college was given Saturday night by President and Mrs. C. H. Rammelkamp at their home, 310 Lockwood Place.

Stunts put on by the members of the four classes of the college provided a most happy diversion for entertainment, in which a prize was offered for the best production.

A stage had been erected in the south side of the large living room of the president's home and it was here that the freshmen presented "Omet and Oatmella" a take-off on "Hamlet." The play was written by Paul Watkins of Petersburg and it was meritoriously given.

The sophomores presented a satire on the faculty. It represented a meeting of the future faculty after the death of the last remaining member of the present faculty. The remains of each member was put in a glass jar, appropriately labelled and these labels were read by the members of the cast.

The juniors presented a series of cartoons of members of the faculty and prominent students given by stereopticon. The cartoons were from the clever pen of Edward Bullard.

The seniors presented a musical comedy, which afforded much amusement.

The prize was awarded to the Freshmen their offering being easily the hit of the evening. The judges were Prof. Kritch, Misses Mary Price and Elson Barnes, and the prize was a five pound box of chocolates.

A suitable collation was served, a number of the young ladies of the college classes assisting Mrs. Rammelkamp in the serving.

OILING ROADS IS AGAIN BEING CONSIDERED

Suggested as Plan for Betterment While Hard Roads are Being Built —Oiling instead of Sprinkling for Square Proposed.

Now that the country roads are passable for automobiles, the question of oiling some stretches is again occupying some attention. Leavitt Clark of New Berlin, who drove to Jacksonville in his car Saturday, coming by the Ashland route, has given a good deal of thought to the road improvement question.

Talking along this line, he said Saturday: "I found the roads good practically all the way from my home to Jacksonville, with only a very few chuck-holes to interfere with progress. A few years ago it was possible to tell when one came to the Morgan county line by the rough roads, but more recently it has come about that as a general thing the dirt roads in Morgan county are better than those in Sangamon. Dragging is now done so continuously along most Morgan county roads that their condition is incomparably better than was true some years ago."

"I believe thoroughly in the hard road movement, but realize it will be a long time before we can have any considerable stretch of hard roads, and from observation of oiled roads I believe that treating roads in this manner will not be nearly so expensive as hard roads, and will bring just as satisfactory results. However, why not do both, adding some hard roads each year, and meanwhile keeping roads in passable condition with oiling? I have seen roads properly graded and oiled which remained in excellent condition all winter through, and I believe that where roads have been oiled and results have not been satisfactory, that this has been because proper grading was not done. Out in our country there is quite a sentiment in favor of oiled roads."

May Oil Square Pavement.

W. H. Cooching has been busy for a number of days interviewing business men with reference to his plan to oil the street pavements around the square and adjacent streets this season instead of sprinkling. He has purchased a road oiling machine with sprays attached, which could be used for this purpose as well as for the work of road oiling, and he was exhibiting the machine on the square Saturday. It is said that oiling pavements has proven very satisfactory in a great many cities, and that the cost is not any greater than for water.

The oil used on pavements is asphaltic, and so of a different type than that used for dirt road purposes. It is claimed that one application each month during the spring, summer and fall months will keep the dust down and the streets constantly in a satisfactory condition. One advantage for oiled pavements over the ordinary method of sprinkling is that the asphaltic oil absorbs the heat of the sun instead of reflecting it, and reduces the glare. The oil, it is claimed, does not make the pavements slippery, and that crossings are constantly in good condition, while sprinkling with water often makes them slippery for a time at least. One of the objections made to oiling pavements is the odor from the oil, but it is said that this is not noticeable after the oil has been applied a short time.
